The 2005 conference had a record attendance level of over 300 participants and over 30 exhibitors. The days were packed with networking opportunities and educational sessions, provided by the industries leading experts. Educational sessions ranged from legislative updates, tax issues, successful captive insurance case studies to innovative uses for your ART vehicle, to name a few. At night there were dinners and parties, including the Annual Conference Party. At the party the participants dined on some of the finest Southern cuisine.

Through out the conference an air of optimism filled the halls as participants reflected on South Carolina's captive insurance industry's success over the past six years and looked forward to even more success in 2006.
